Avian flu restrictions to end in most of England

Thursday 11 May 2017 17:04 Philip Case

Restrictions on poultry to limit the spread of avian flu will be lifted across most of England from Monday (15 May), Defra has announced.

The UK's chief veterinary officer said the overall risk in England is "low", compared with risk levels in November 2016, and should continue to fall in warmer, drier spring weather.

Therefore, Defra has decided to lift the ban on poultry gatherings and the avian influenza prevention zone (AIPZ) across most of England from Monday.
