Name of the Tool	Golf Digest
Home Page	EXAMPLE A REVIEW OF THE AREA O
Logo	GolfDigest
URL	http://www.golfdigest.com/
Subjects	Sports – Digest Golf – Digest
Accessibility	Free
Language	English
Publisher	Condé Nast
Brief History	This tool started its journey in 1950, and was sold to The New York Times Company in 1969. The Times company sold their magazine division to Condé Nast in 2001. The headquarters of Golf Digest is in Des Moines, Iowa.
Scope and Coverage	Golf Digest (printed) is a monthly golf magazine published by Condé Nast Publications in the United States. It is a generalist golf publication cover various news on recreational golf and men's and women's competitive golf. Condé Nast Publications also publishes the more specialized Golf for Women, Golf World and Golf World Business. The articles are published in Golf digest; covers different aspects of golf sports like equipments, game instruction, golf tournaments, golf personality, news of game etc.

Kind of Information In Golf digest golf related articles available with its title, author name (posted by) and publishing date. Articles are present with brief description and photographs. Sometimes hyperlinked terms are present for more detail information. An example is given below for clear understanding.

Judge fines golf course for...not installing cameras to monitor out-of-bounds shots?

By Joel Beall

I have never had sympathy for residents on golf courses complaining about errant balls in their yard. They get the added value on their real estate and backdoor access to the links whenever they want, for the small price of a few Titleists scattered across their landscape...and why would you moan about that? You'd never have to buy a ball in your life! Plus, you know damn well what you're signing up for when buying a house next to a golf hole; it's like eating three Big Macs then griping about a stomachache.

So in past golfer-homeowner disputes, we've always turned to a deaf ear to the matter. Not like hackers are trying to hit the ball out-of-bounds. But, as this court case shows, courses can pay the price when players go wayward on house-lined holes.

According to the Allentown Morning Call, a Pennsylvania judge has fined Morgan Hill Golf Club $1,000 for failing to install cameras to monitor "all golf swings and the trajectory of all golf balls" on its 13th hole. The club is currently in a dispute with a couple that is tired of golf balls on their property, and the judge asked for video cameras on the hole in question. But when the club opened up early thanks to warm weather, the cameras were not yet in place, to which the couple filed a motion.

To the club's credit, they've moved the tee box on the hole twice, but the couple says it hasn't helped. (And before you say the couple should get out of Dodge, they moved into their house in 2001 before the course was built in 2004.)

Although, if the couple was smart, they'd look at this as a business opportunity. If as many balls are landing in their yard as claimed, they could make a nice buck walking up to the 13th tee and selling used ammo.

After each entry sometimes video clips are also available.

Special Features	\succ	User	can	follow	Golf	Digest	via	social	networking	sites	like Facebook, Twitter, Google+ and so on.
		T :	£. "	T1 W.	.1.11. 1.	00 0		7-16 0-			100

List of : "The World's 100 Greatest Golf Courses" ; "America's 100 Greatest Golf Courses" ; "America's 100 Greatest Public Golf Courses" ; "100 Best Golf Courses Outside the United States" present. Contact and feedback option available with proper form. Latest news; most watches videos list available. \blacktriangleright A site map present for easy access to website. > For subscription of Golf Digest printed version one can apply through proper form. The articles are arranged according to publishing date wise. Dates are Arrangement Pattern arranged newest to oldest order. One can search their information under different categories like Equipments, Instructions, Courses etc. An example is given below. GOLF DIGEST PODCAST March 28, 2017 Golf Digest Podcast: 'Tommy's Honour' director Jason Connery explains why his new film isn't really a golf movie By Ryan Herrington SEEN ON TOUR March 27, 2017 You have to see the putter Bubba Watson might be using at the Masters By E. Michael Johnson DEW SWEEPER March 27, 2017 DJ dominates (again), hope for DeChambeau and the rise of Rahm: 5 things you need to know from the weekend By Joel Beall VIRAL VIDEOS March 26, 2017 This gator eating a golf ball is the latest reminder that you should ALWAYS stay away from gators By Alex Myers Remarks In 2009, Golf Digest was nominated for a National Magazine Awards by the American Society of Magazine Editors in the Magazine Section in recognition of the excellence of a regular section of a magazine based on voice, originality and unified presentation. In April 2014, Golf Digest was widely criticized when, after neglecting to picture a female golfer on their cover for six years, they chose to picture model Paulina Gretzky in a revealing outfit as their May 2014 cover. Comparable Tools > Open Medicine Digest (https://blogs.biomedcentral.com/on-medicine/tag/open-medicine-digest/)

Date of Access

March 30, 2017