Brief History

Subject to research

Scope and Coverage

It provides information on different breeds of some animals like dog, cat, horse, rabbit, bird etc. Information on pet care, how to groom any animal, training of animal, common diseases and disease prevention etc. can be found. City wise boarding services and related websites are given too. Planet-Pets contains over 3,500 pages of quality pet information.

Kind of Information

It provides information mainly on some categories like dogs, cats, fish, birds, horses, rabbits, reptiles, donkeys etc. Each category is provided with brief information, common habits, diseases, grooming, treatment etc. Different breeds are discussed with their specialities. Such as, under 'dogs' category, information are provided on dog breeds, breeders, trainers, groomers, sitters, boarding etc. Other dog services include information on disease prevention, clipping dog nails, feeding, dog ear problems, canine parasites, buying a puppy, canine first aid, dog breeders, pet lawyers, dog origins, dog books etc.

In case of fish and reptiles, information are given on different species including their photos, size, food habit, scientific names (sometimes) etc. Examples of a fish and a reptile are given below:

Species Information

Native to Asia: Mekong basin; also from the Indonesian islands of Java and Sumatra where it is used as a food fish.

Known as a "shark" because of its way of swimming and its shape, the labeo erythrura is not an ideal community fish.

Leopard Gecko

The leopard gecko, (Eublepharis macularius), is an ideal pet that takes up little space, has simple food requirements, comes in designer colors and patterns and can withstand the life dealt out by even the most absent-minded of keepers. They are excitable as babies, but harmless, and as adults they become very tame; taking food from your fingers. With a maximum adult size of 7-10" this lizard is easily handled by supervised children. But remember, their tails can break off (and be re-grown), so make sure you never pick them up or grab them by that fleshy tail.

Different pet rescue organizations are enlisted under each state of United States. Such as, Michigan provides list like the following:
