Scope and Coverage

It interpreting and providing easy access to a large range of topics, traditions, and methods to a relatively broad audience: not only students who often adamantly prefer such user-friendliness, researchers and lecturers in Translation Studies, Translation & Interpreting professionals; but also scholars and experts from other disciplines (among which linguistics, sociology, history, psychology).

Kind of Information

The HTS aims at disseminating knowledge about translation. In addition the HTS addresses any of those with a professional or personal interest in the problems of translation, interpreting, localization, editing, etc., such as communication specialists, journalists, literary critics, editors, public servants, business managers, (intercultural) organization specialists, media specialists, marketing professionals. The handbook adds translations of individual entries in several other world languages, mostly in collaboration with translation departments worldwide. All the articles are provided with lots of references and are linked with related articles.

Special Features

- The handbook has interconnection with the selection and organization principles of the online Translation Studies Bibliography (TSB). The taxonomy of the TSB has been partly applied to the selection of entries for the HTS. Moreover, many items in the reference lists are hyperlinked to the TSB, where the user can find an abstract of a publication.
- All articles are written by specialists in the different subfields and are peer-reviewed.
- The usability, accessibility and flexibility of the HTS depend on the commitment of people who agree that Translation Studies does matter. All users are therefore invited to share their feedback.
- If one is interested in producing or coordinating translations of the HTS entries or if one has additional questions, then he or she contacts the editorial team at hts@kuleuven.be.
- The HTS is variously searchable: by article, by author, by subject.

Arrangement Pattern

All the articles are arranged in alphabetic order according to the title of those articles. The articles can be accessed from title index available under the heading “Handbook” in left side of the page. One can also access the translated articles in other languages, like Arabic, French, German, Japanese, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish, and Ukrainian from the “Handbook” heading.

Remarks

As a meaningful manifestation of how institutionalized the discipline has become, the Handbook of Translation Studies (HTS) is most welcome. The Handbook is published in English and have started to add translations of individual entries to the online edition in the following languages: Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Persian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish and Ukrainian.
