

Home Page

Logo

URL

<http://www.xoogleanswers.com/free-newspaper-archives/>

Subject

Newspapers - Archives

Accessibility

Free

Language

English

Publisher

XoogleAnswers

Brief History

David Sarokin, XoogleAnswers' founder, is a researcher par excellence with decades of professional experience. David, a Fulbright Scholar, is a biologist with a wealth of experience as a policy analyst, a legislative researcher for the US Senate, a fundraiser for non-profits, and a program manager in the federal government. David served as one of the most productive researchers at Google Answers, an online, fee-based Q&A service that was retired at the end of 2006.

Scope and Coverage

It covers newspapers of different places and of different categories, such as, US state and regional newspaper archives, European archives, College and student newspapers, Historical magazine archives, and also from the Rest of the world. Most of the links are covered from 16th century to modern times.

Kind of Information

Historical researchers quickly become familiar with commercial newspaper archives like Proquest, Readex, Newsbank etc., but these are high-priced, institutional subscription services, and not everyone can get ready access to them. Two accessible and affordable subscription services for vintage newspaper articles are NewspaperArchive and Newspapers.com, both very impressive free online newspaper archive collections.

Increasingly, there are some digital archives of old newspapers available to everyone at no charge, if anyone want to know where to look. That's why XooxleAnswers: Newspaper Archives collection of resources is all about: free historical newspapers on the Internet. Here are some links are available under different categories of world's newspaper archives. These are –

- US state and regional newspaper archives
- College and student newspapers
- Historical magazine archives
- European archives
- Other international archives, including numerous foreign language sources

US state and regional newspaper archives: There are excellent free historical resources for vintage newspaper articles in the United States. They cover a broad swath of U.S. history — from the 18th to the 21st century –and cover state, city, town, county, and regional newspapers. Headlines, articles, photos, display ads, classifieds...they're all there for the taking.

European archives: More and more digitized archives for historical newspapers from Europe are coming online. A large number are available for free and they cover a broad swath of European and world history, from the 1600s to modern times. Vintage newspaper archives from Europe are highlighted under this category.

Other international archives: More and more digitized archives for historical newspapers from around the world are coming online. A large number are available for free, covering a broad swath world history, from the 1600s to modern times. Vintage newspaper archives from all over the globe are highlighted under this category.

Special Features

- ❖ Full list of the Google News Archives newspapers are available. To see this list click on Google News Archives -

Home
About Us
Free Newspaper Archives
US State and Local Europe
Other International
Magazine Archives
College Newspapers
Google News Archives
Contact Us

Arrangement Pattern

Links for newspaper archives are arranged categorically.

As for example,

- US state and regional newspaper archives
- College and student newspapers
- Historical magazine archives
- European archives
- Other international archives, including numerous foreign language sources

Remarks

It is a very useful site to search the news archives, here links to the world's best newspaper archives are attached. Visitors can find the archives easily through this site.

Comparable Tools

- CINCINATI.com \(http://cincinnati.newspapers.com/\)
- Newspapers.com \(https://www.newspapers.com/\)
- ELEPHIND.COM \(http://www.elephind.com/\)

Date of Access

February 08, 2017