Scope and Coverage

Journal of Scientific Review (JSR)-an Open Access Journal, is an international interdisciplinary research journal on all aspects of science and technology. It provides a unique forum to place your ideas, articles of general interest, research article, commentaries, book reviews, review articles, and anything of interest to the scientific community. Articles from different branches of science and technology are promptly made available to the wide range of readers. Being an open access journal, information is freely available online, and those interested may read online or download articles in pdf format.

Kind of Information

JSR is a peer-reviewed, interdisciplinary research journal on all aspects of science and technology. The issues of the journal are made available as a current issue or edition, and a set of archives of previous issues. The Journal Manager is able to bring into this journal website earlier issues of the journal that were published prior to the use of this system so that they form part of the Archives that are made available to readers on the journal's website. These two reviews can be searched from journal content through different search such as by title, author, abstract, full text or all.

The screenshot displays the website interface for the Journal of Scientific Review (JSR). The main content area is titled "Vol 6, No 1 (2016)" and features an "Open Issue" section with the text: "The list of recently accepted articles. The articles will be made online after proofs correction." Below this is a "Table of Contents" section listing "Articles" and "Research Articles". One article is highlighted: "Correlation of Structural and Ab-initio Optical Properties of ZnO Nanoparticles Thin Films Prepared by different Treating concentration" by Faisal M. A. Almutaser, Sutripto Majumder, J. V. Sali, Babasaheb R. Sankapal. The page also includes a "Creative Commons License" notice at the bottom: "Journal of Scientific Review is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 2.5 India License." The interface includes a user login section on the left, a navigation menu at the top, and a search bar on the right.

All the recent articles are listed in table of contents and by selecting one of them abstract of the article with reference are visible. Archive volumes are listed from new to old with abstract and reference and author of the article is given. JSR gives the information about the author guidelines, how to submit on online, copyright related notice, privacy statement and author fees. Login or Sign in is needed while submitting an article. Important announcements are made to aware the users. Scientific Review Board is there to reviewing the articles. SRB Conference Management Tools assists conference organisers to document their conference at one place-manage everything from abstract submission to registering delegates and publishing conference proceeding. Information for user, for librarians is given to support them. One must be logged in to make a donation.
